

At risk children: how early intervention can lead to future success

Join Shannon Stewart, registered child psychologist and Western Education researcher, and JoAnn Iantosca, PhD Candidate, as they showcase their recently-developed approach for identifying, evaluating and treating at-risk children, and learn more about the community initiatives being implemented to give high-risk children the best start possible.

Presenters: Dr. Shannon Stewart, Associate Professor, and JoAnn Iantosca, Ph.D. Candidate, Faculty of Education

Date & Time: Thursday, January 12, 7 - 8:30 p.m.

Location: Faculty of Education Building, 1137 Western Road, Room 1139 (Community Room). Free parking provided.